

the scene

...on the Semiahmoo Peninsula

Addictive Comedy

White Rock-based stand-up comedy training group Addictive Comedy will present the graduates of its September therapeutic comedy course in the second of two showcase events MCed by comedian/program founder Lizzie Allan this month at the Elk's Hall, 1469 George St.

"These students have been engaging since September and discovering the healing, connective power of comedy," said Addictive Comedy's Elaine Cheung. "Not only do these courses smash the stigma surrounding addiction, mental illness, recovery, trauma, and loss, but they also help people build confidence, learn and develop skills, and stay connected by breaking down barriers."

Alex Browne
the scene

On Nov. 23 at 6:30 p.m., the early show will present comedians Corrie Mosier, Mara Rebiffe, Shaya Sy-Rantfors and Kamaldeep Dhaliwal, followed at 8:30 p.m. by Jennifer McConnell, Tanya Jones, Naomi Galinsky and Kay Koroll.

Tickets are $15. For more information, visit eventbrite.ca or contact Cheung at 604-614-3142 or elaine@addictivecomedy.com

Contributed photo

Addictive Comedy

Graduates of Addictive Comedy's September therapeutic stand-up comedy course will be showcased Nov. 23 at the Elk's Hall, 1469 George St.

Coming up Nov. 24 is the Square Pegs Jazzy Band. Admission (at the door) is $12; $10 for WRTJS members.

Weavers sale

Hunter and Janice Griffiths won top honours for weaving, felting and waving with handspun yarn, and their work will be part of the two-day event.

The sale will also include fashion paint nights and line dancing, a regular Howlin' Tuesdays jam (7 p.m. to midnight) and Sunday afternoon entertainment (3-7 p.m.), while its famed MacKarino's Kitchen is open Wednesday through